

NY Counts 2020 Census Week of Action- The Final Count-up! How to Get Out the Count as a College or University

The 2020 Census is coming to an end soon and we need YOU to help us get out the count! We want ALL New Yorkers counted. Let's take these efforts statewide. Let's have every corner of NYS blanketed with a range of final get out the count activities. These ten days of action will encourage every resident of the Empire State to self-respond and bridge that 3.5% gap between NY's self-response rate and the national self-response rate.

We have until the end of this month to get our community counted! We must make sure New York receives the funding and political representation it deserves for the next TEN years! See below easy-lift ideas you can take to help us secure a fair count in the next 10 days.

"I have no time" ideas
Add Census awareness to your pre-existing activities	Add a census message to anything you're already doing! Simply take 5 minutes at the beginning of any event and remind everyone about the importance of the census and to complete it at 2020census.gov Need to refine your census messaging? Click here for a quick one-pager with some top-line 2020 Census messaging guidance and quick talking points when speaking about the 2020 Census.
Post about the census on all social media channels (don't forget about Snapchat and TikTok!)	Need some graphics? Click here for an assortment of different graphics in various languages. Additionally, find social media graphics specifically for college students here. And share this video on where college students should be counted on facebook or twitter.
Have staff update their email signatures with census & auto-reply message with census information	Feel free to write your own, or use this pre-crafted version: Have you completed the 2020 Census yet? It's just 9 questions and takes less than 10 minutes. Visit www.my2020Census.gov to get counted today!
If operating in person, hang up a poster or post a yard sign around campus or administration offices.	Find ready-to-print posters here and even more here

	Additionally, find flyers in an assortment of languages here, census-themed coloring sheets here, a half-sheet flyer that lets them know how to fill it out, and a flyer that explains how to identify a Census taker. And last, don't forget about any electric billboard or screens near you! Make sure those have a census message too.
Meeting virtually? Update your Zoom background with a census message	Click here for a NY Counts 2020 Zoom Background.
Give your staff time to complete the census	Give your staff 10-15 minutes to complete the census on behalf of their family. Or to text 5 friends or family members reminders to complete the census at 2020census.gov.
"I can spare an hour or two" Ideas
Send an email blast to your network or include a census message in newsletter you send	Include a paragraph explaining why the Census is important to your organization or community in your monthly newsletter or dedicated email blasts. Find an email template here. Need some joy? E-mail some census-themed coloring sheets to your families! Need to refine your census messaging? Click here for a quick one-pager with some top-line 2020 Census messaging guidance and quick talking points when speaking about the 2020 Census.
Where appropriate, train front line staff to answer basic questions.	Encourage staff to bring up the Census as part of regular conversations with your community. These Census talking points and Census fact sheets are perfect for prepping them for such conversations.
Add a census banner to your webpage.	This makes it easy for anyone who visits your website to respond. Click here to download ready-to-post graphics.
Record a video in a non-English language about the census and share it	Have a special language skill you provide to your community? Use that skill! See here from an example message from Cardi B in Spanish!

Host a community radio program? Include a census radio spot.	Does a club at your school have a community radio program or podcast? Include a census message in your next broadcast. Find sample PSA scripts here.
"I have time, let's do this!" Ideas
If operating in-person, host a census pop up at your location.	Are your offices open to the public? Make computers or tablets available for participants to fill out the 2020 Census during regularly scheduled service hours. In light of the COVID-19 pandemic, be sure to adhere to state and municipality guidelines, including proper sanitation procedures. See here for more information on how to host this event.
Host a census drive-through	Not operating in person but still like the idea of a census pop-up? Perhaps a census drive-through is the event for you. See this guide for how to host a census pop-up event- just make it a drive through instead! See how a CBO in Brooklyn did it here.
Host a mini-phone bank	Make sure the people you serve have been counted! Gather volunteers to make calls to any phone lists you have with a quick reminder to complete the census. Find a sample script here.
Ask your President to write an op-ed about the census	See this op-ed from Meeta Anand to The Buffalo News.
Host a Census Lotería or Bingo night on Zoom or FB Live	Need to add some fun? Do a game-day with your students and learn about the census! Find a census lotería game board here. And see an example of this event here.
Coordinate a chalk mural	Get creative! Get a small group of artistic students together to do some chalk art outside your school or a local gathering center with a message about the census. See examples here.

Host a census TikTok or Meme competition	Host a census TikTok or Meme competition for your students. See how University of Nebraska Omaha did it here.
Poster Canvass and Literature Drop	Gather a small group of volunteers to hang up posters at various locations around your community. You can target your message and perhaps change the languages based on the area where you chose to distribute your materials. Reach out to small businesses and see if they'd be willing to hang up a poster or have literature available in a common area (such as a waiting room). Find ready-to-print posters here and even more here Additionally, find flyers in an assortment of languages here, census-themed coloring sheets here, a half-sheet flyer that lets them know how to fill it out, and a flyer that explains how to identify a Census taker. And last, don't forget about any electric billboard or screens near you! Make sure those have a census message too.
Last but not least
Spread the word through other networks	Know a trusted messenger in your network that might not work in your office? Perhaps a small business owner, faith leader, or elected official? Text or email them asking them to talk about the census to their network. See an example friend/family email on page 9 of this toolkit here.
